With the current Synod on Synodality Catholics are curious regarding the role and authority of Church leaders gathering for official meetings.

Fr. Bill will give an overview of the most recent Ecumenical Council, Vatican II, including its theme, the documents it produced and what it calls for in the Church, especially regarding the role of the Laity.

Fr. Bill will include a brief history of the Church Councils and what they addressed. He will begin with a description of the different types of meetings when the bishops and other leaders gather, what is the difference between a Council and a Synod, and what authority they have throughout the worldwide Church.
